About the Conference

The Air Medical Transportation Conference is an internationally recognized annual forum dedicated to improving the quality of air medical transport services. The Conference is dedicated to helping medical transport operators and professionals improve the quality of patient care. The Conference is held in conjunction with the AMTC Trade Show, an innovative and educational program designed to showcase and adapt to the changing patient needs and promote the advancement of the air medical transport industry. The Conference attracts a diverse audience that includes operators, physicians, nurses, technical and flight crew, communication specialists, Part 135 respiratory therapists, paramedics, pilots, managers, administrators, service providers and influential professionals active on all levels of the air medical transport industry.

Hotel Information

Air Medical Transportation Conference (AMTC) continues to grow in both size and scope, bringing new and exciting opportunities for the attendees. The AMTC Conference is a unique event that provides an outstanding opportunity to reach a targeted audience of healthcare professionals and decision-makers associated with the air medical transport industry. The Conference is a great place to network with potential clients and partners, and to learn about the latest trends and developments in the industry.

Membership Pays!

Networking, knowledge, and support for medical professionals are the foundation on which your membership to AMTC is based. Through your membership to the AMTC, you will receive access to additional resources to help you make your membership worthwhile.

Information on how to register and reserve your space will be included in the AMTC Exhibitor Service Kit, provided exclusively from the AAMS, to the exhibit companies in Charlotte.
